Blog
Religious Life

A statue of St. Dominic is seen outside the Dominican House of Studies in Washington. (CNS/Bob Roller)

by A Nun's Life Ministry

View Author Profile

Join the Conversation

August 12, 2022

Share on BlueskyShare on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint
Audio file
Clip from "In Good Faith" podcast

Sister Maxine talks to Adrian Dominican Sr. Durstyne Farnan, the United Nations representative for the Dominican Sisters Conference, about what it means to be part of the worldwide "Dominican family." Sisters, nuns, friars, associates and many more embrace the Dominican charism, which is characterized by the search for truth. As preachers, "we are to be about the Gospel, preaching it or teaching it, living it and sharing it with others that we meet," Sister Dusty explains.

Click here to listen to the full "In Good Faith" podcast where this clip is from.

GSR shares clips from our friends at A Nun's Life Ministry. Check out full episodes of all their podcasts (Ask Sister, In Good Faith, Random Nun Clips and more, like the archived Motherhouse Road Trips) on their website, ANunsLife.org.

Advertisement